

ANTHONY CRAPISI

Special Projects Manager

Anthony Crapisi is a Special Projects Manager at The DeBruce Foundation where he streamlines internal communication, develops campaign strategies for Agilities.org, and manages software solutions. He is a cancer survivor and 2014 graduate of the University of Missouri – Kansas City with a B.A. in Communication Studies with emphases in Mass Media, Interpersonal/Public Communication, and Journalism.

Prior to joining The DeBruce Foundation, Anthony served five years at Cerner Corporation. Anthony considers himself an advocate for his generation and believes in the power of authenticity, integrity, and effective leadership. He credits these things for his success and strives to see others excel in their careers through his work.