

ADAM CARPENTIER

Video Production Consultant

Adam Carpentier proudly serves as the video production consultant for the DeBruce Foundation. Since joining the team in 2018, he has documented the inception of the DeBruce Career Corps, with his role evolving to capture a wide array of storytelling opportunities. Adam's mission is to help tell the story of the Foundation through videos to inform various stakeholders how to integrate the Agilities into their work across the community and tell personal success stories of those who have already embraced their own Agilities.

With over 15 years of professional video production experience, Adam has a diverse background spanning documentary filmmaking, advertising, sports, and live events. Since 2016, he has worked primarily with nonprofit and philanthropic organizations. This stems from the desire to make a positive impact with the belief that visual storytelling can contribute to personal growth and social change.

In his free time, Adam enjoys spending time with his family, working out, and practicing martial arts.
