

Rebecca Kessler

Education and Integration Specialist

Rebecca Kessler is an Education and Integration Specialist for The DeBruce Foundation. She works to develop resources that allow educators, after school providers, and other stakeholders to integrate the Agilities into their work. Prior to working with The DeBruce Foundation, Rebecca was an educator working with elementary, middle, and high school students including self-contained special education students. During her time in education, she was able to work in the coaching environment as an Assistive Technology coordinator where she connected students with disabilities to transformative technology to help them access learning. Rebecca connected with educators at local, state, and national conferences to share instructional strategies to improve student outcomes. In her classroom she implemented The Foundation's work with Agilities to empower students to see value in their skills and apply it to their lives for success now and in the future.

Rebecca received her Bachelor's in Elementary Education and Middle School Mathematics from the University of Central Missouri and her Master's of Education degree in Teaching and Learning from the University of Missouri.
