

Agustín Martín
Senior Technical Solutions Consultant

Agustín is a Senior Technical Solutions Consultant at The DeBruce Foundation, where he develops and maintains a wide range of digital platforms, automation workflows, and web infrastructure. With over a decade of experience in software development, he brings a deep understanding of full-stack engineering and a strong commitment to scalable, maintainable, and standards-driven code.

Prior to joining The DeBruce Foundation, Agustín served as a technical leader and senior developer across fintech and software consultancy roles. His work is driven by a passion for best practices and creative problem-solving, which he applies to designing solutions that meet both technical demands and business goals.

Outside of work, Agustín is an avid drummer and a fan of retro games. He's always exploring new technologies and is energized by the challenge of integrating emerging tools into real-world solutions.
